

THE RAINMAKER'S WAY

VIOLET RAINWATER

STAGE INTRO

With a reputation that precedes her, it is my distinct honor to present to you a visionary whose name has become synonymous with innovation, transformation, and unwavering dedication to the art of sales.

Today, we have the privilege of welcoming a speaker whose life story is a testament to resilience, innovation, and the relentless pursuit of excellence. From the humble beginnings of a child immigrant who discovered her passion for entrepreneurship at a young age, to becoming a top sales producer in the competitive and male-dominated financial services industry, she has shattered ceilings and defied expectations at every turn.

But her journey wasn't without its trials. Battling and overcoming debilitating anxiety born from childhood adversity, she emerged not just unscathed but empowered, with a revolutionary framework for transcending limitations and achieving one's highest potential. Her keynote, "The Rainmaker's Way: A New Era in Sales," is not merely a presentation but a movement, transforming sales teams and business owners across the nation.

Please join me in welcoming the extraordinary, the transformative, Violet Rainwater—your guide to transcending the ordinary and embracing a future of unparalleled sales success and personal achievement.